EV Charging Station Financing

To better support our valued dealers and through our commitment to improving the environment, Chrysler Capital would like to share the following updates to our EV financing strategy.

Effective immediately, Chrysler Capital will allow dealers' customers to finance the cost of an electric vehicle charging station in conjunction with the financing of an electric vehicle purchase. This is limited to the "hard" cost of the charging station and does not include "soft" costs such as the installation of the charging station in the customer's home.

Dealers must ensure the charging station is properly disclosed to the customer on the Purchase Order, Retail Installment Sales Contract, and other customer-facing agreements as required by state law.

Program Details

- » The cost of the charging station will be included in the Front-End Advance Calculation.
- » The cost of the charging station will not be considered in the collateral valuation.
- » All transactions must comply with all applicable laws and regulations.

Eligible for Financing:

- » Cost of the charging station

Ineligible for Financing:

- » Installation costs

EV charger financing is applicable for retail transactions only; lease transactions are not included at this time.

Contact your Dealer Relationship Manager for more details about this electrifying new opportunity.
